

Four Body Densities

Each of the four individual Light Bodies within a Solar Star/Sun System, of the four planetary holograms of the Star System, express from higher to lower levels of energy and to our current awareness would look like giant to tiny in size.

Each of the four Solar/Star bodies express in four different states of density because they are of four different levels of energy.

It is the result of memory held within the sub-conscious mind that authors of the new age movement have accessed pieces that have allowed them to believe the “planes” of the Eternal Life Grid are “density levels”. Each 12, 9, 6, 3, 12 point of the Eternal Life Grid is a level of Source Mind and expresses at a different level of energy within each system, from the micro to the macro level of creation. One System is one cycle of the Eternal Life Grid (12, 9, 6, 3 12) therefore, the body expressions of mind expresses from higher to lower states of denseness and polarized light and sound particles express from higher to lower states of polarized energy.

There are four planes of energy (higher to lower) within the Universal Galactic Plane (Galaxy). There are four planes of energy within a Solar Sun/Star Plane. There are four planes of energy of one planetary hologram because there are four planes of energy of the polarized body expression that allows an individual face of Source to experience a hologram within a “level of mind”.

Your vertical pillar is your connection to your multi-dimensional expressions which express from higher to lower levels of energy.

No one on earth has been able to access this information for hundreds of thousands of years because the energy of Source that it is held within has not been able to flow into the sub-conscious mind of the earth system.

Planets are holograms that are only accessible / possible / experiential when an individual mind of Source groups with a Source Collective Mind (Sun / Star) as the collective energy is required to create the plane fields holograms express within.

To say that a planetary hologram has an expression in all four planes of the Universal Galactic Plane is simply the result of partial memory turning back on within the fragmented sub-conscious mind of the earth system that has not yet turned back on memory of the truth of mind or the layers of inner creation.

The distorted, fragmented Eternal Life Grid of the sub-conscious mind hold fragmented thought patterns per loss of Source energy and the ancient “re-evolving” beliefs within the masses of earth are a result of splicing fragmented thoughts together out of sequence which creates a false view of creation.

For this reason I remind you once again; believe nothing until you “know it within yourself”. If the only thing you can currently know within yourself is the feeling of love then allow that feeling to be the foundation for your beliefs and discern all within your foundation.

You cannot build a life of love and balance if the foundation is not love!

It has not been possible for the fragmented consciousness of earth to remember the truth of a planetary hologram and so the people who have become aware of fragmented pieces of memory can only try to fit those fragmented pieces into the illusion of the hologram.

To see or become aware of truth behind the illusion requires constant focus on Source within as focusing on the illusion only presents the illusion.

It is not possible to be plugged into a hologram within one star system and to then plug the energy imbued within that hologram into a hologram of another star system; such a concept is based on the illusion of a hologram of fragmented consciousness and the use of artificial technology to move their holographic body form through the layers of holograms.

Within a healed hologram, created by a healed Source collective mind, the expressions of Source do not create artificial technology which includes spaceships. Only fragmented consciousness that have forgotten they are Source would do such a thing.

The process of individual consciousness leaving a solar star system to experience other solar star systems requires unplugging their personal energy from the solar plane 12 Point Zero Lock Sphere and contracting all of their energy imbued within the solar plane back into mind within the solar sun star and then contracting the three layers of mind within the sun star back into the 12 point level of mind within the sun star which merges your energy back to a high enough level to then exit the solar sun star and merge back into your universal galactic sun levels of mind.

Your galactic sun levels of mind cannot merge to a high enough level of energy to then merge back into Layer One of outer creation until you pull in enough of your energy which you stepped down within the time matrix to be able to exit the time matrix of Layer Two of outer creation via the black and white hole set of the galactic sun and merging back into Layer One of outer creation.

Fragmented, holographic life expressions that use artificial technology to bop around with in the holographic plane fields are doing so within their fragmented level of mind which is still plugged into the solar star system which their fragmented mind is trapped within and having the experience within their fragmented mind.

But their holographic body can only remain intact as long as it is in the environment of its home location and is why artificial space ships must support an artificial environment to keep the holographic body form from exploding and fragmenting into tiny units of energy.

You can now apply this truth to the UFO and new age movement of ET channels to better discern the truth behind those belief systems.

Do ETs exist? Every thought within creation exists but it only exists as thought all else is an illusion which is created and experienced within a state of mind.

Earth only exists within the fragmented sub-conscious mind of the consciousness that became trapped within the holographic plane of the earth system but the healed expression of earth still remains and exists within the healed level of Source mind of the Solar Sun Star.

Polarized biological life forms, as they express within the holographic plane of the earth system, only exist within the fragmented sub-conscious mind of the earth system and only express as they do within that system because all biological life forms within a holographic planetary system are created by the collective level of mind via the collective thoughts of the individual expressions of source that are creating and experiencing the hologram.

The biological DNA of the biological holographic life forms of the earth solar plane only express as such within the earth solar plane. The fragmented DNA of the earth system is a result of the fragmentation that occurred within the Eternal Life Grid of the system. When the fragmented collective sub-conscious mind of the earth system have healed back into balance the entire perceived hologram will heal back into balance and will no longer express as it is currently perceived which means the smaller life-forms that the collective consciousness creates within the hologram will look and express differently per the healed thoughts of the healed mind of the conscious collective.

The requirement for healing an imbalanced hologram is the necessity of healing the collective mind that is creating the imbalanced hologram.

By projecting your individual vertical pillar Ray of Light and stepping your energy down when you enter your consciousness into a solar sun star and plugging into the 12 point zero lock of the solar star plane you instantly become aware of the entire solar star system via your energy stepped down throughout the system. This is why if fragmented consciousness manages to create artificial space ships using artificial technology they may be able to accomplish moving their holographic body form around within the solar plane but only if the environment of their spaceship matches the environment of their holographic planet biosphere otherwise the holographic body form would explode and fragment into tiny units of energy if it tried to live within the biosphere of an different hologram or remained within the biosphere long enough to fragment the body form.

In order to experience a holographic planetary reality field the level of energy of the individual consciousness must match the level of energy of the holographic reality field and plug into the 12 point zero lock sphere of the holographic reality field. So to live within the biosphere of the planets within a solar system the individual consciousness must be able to plug their pillar of energy into the 12 point zero lock sphere of the planetary hologram which means matching their level of energy to the level of energy of the planetary hologram and is why the biological life forms of earth could not exist within any other hologram within creation.
